SMOKELESS DAYS IN WOODSTOCK

The largest caucus ever held in Woodstock assembled Saturday evening in the village to select a Republican town ticket. Out of courtesy to the ladies, who attended in great numbers, the men, at the suggestion of Supervisor Sagendorf, refrained from smoking in the hall. The campaign carried on by a summer resident named McKenzie and Dr. Willis of Lake Hill resulted in bringing out scores of wealthy stay-at-home voters, who were friends of the present supervisor and other town officials and who resented the attack made upon them. The result was that Supervisor Sagendorf was defeated by a large majority. In accepting he announced that in past campaigns it had been his custom to spend $20 for cigars but this time he intended to cut out the smokes and present $10 to the Woodstock Women's Relief Club, so Woodstock will have a smokeless campaign this year so far as the Republican candidate for supervisor is concerned.

VESTA ADMITS KILLING WOMAN

Italian Taken by Sheriff and Deputy at Eddyville Says She Stole His Money and He Cut Her Throat—Wants to Go to Death House.
An Italian whose name is said to be Lorenza Vesta, but who gave his name as Sam Vesta to Sheriff Smith, wanted for murder, was arrested at about 11 o'clock Saturday night by Sheriff Smith and Deputy Sheriff Seth Jocelyn on the Eddyville bridge. He is 37 years of age. He was locked in jail over night and Sunday morning before being taken to Orange county, by representatives of the sheriff's district attorney's office and Sergeant Daniel Fisher, of the state constabulary, confessed to the crime for which he was suspected. The murder was committed in Highland Falls, Friday, the murdered woman being Ruby Wood, of Waterbury, Conn., aged 24 years. Friday evening, Charles Graziano, aged 15, discovered blood oozing under a door on the upper floor of a two-story tenement owned by his father, Louis Graziano, in Highland Falls, when he went there to collect the rent. The sheriff's office at Newburgh was notified and Deputy Sheriff Samuel Carlton found the body of a woman whose throat had been cut, an empty razor case being found on the floor. The body was on the bed, having been covered by bed clothes. It was learned a young man and woman had hired the flat about a week before the man giving his name as Lorenza Vesta, and that he had worked for the quartermaster in West Point Military Academy. A vest was found with a letter in a pocket addressed to Vesta.
An alarm was then sent out to neighboring villages and cities for Vesta's arrest. One being received by Sheriff Smith about 8 o'clock Saturday evening, and police headquarters was also notified by the sheriff at Newburgh, a good description of Vesta being sent. Sheriff Smith and Seth Jocelyn in a touring car went to the Eddyville bridge, while the police went to the Sleighsborough ferry, as the Newburgh officers thought the man would come on foot by the highway. From 8:15 until shortly after 11 o'clock a dozen or more automobiles were held up by the sheriff on the bridge. Mr. Jocelyn flashing an electric flashlight while the sheriff shouted "stop." In nearly every case the motorists were frightened, having in mind highway robbers and fearing they were being held up to be robbed. The matter was quickly explained to all and after a careful examination of each auto the parties were allowed to proceed. Finally the right car was halted. In it were three men, one answering the description of the murderer. At the point of a revolver in the hands of Jocelyn he was told he was under arrest. He denied he was the man wanted. The other two men, who were Italians also, said they had been hailed by Vesta at Highland Falls and asked for a ride to Kingston, and that they did not know him. One of the men, who owned the car, proved, after being taken to the court house, with his companion, that he was a business man with a store in Newburgh and one in New York city, and that he was on his regular weekly visit to Schenectady to his mother who ran a store there, he was looking after her affairs. He was corroborated over the telephone by the district attorney of Orange county, and was allowed, with his companion to go on to Schenectady.
Sunday morning the officials from Newburgh, who had been informed of Vesta's arrest, came to the court house in an automobile, and took the murderer back to Orange county. He admitted to them that he had cut the woman's throat, and had thrown the razor away while on the road to Kingston, and would show them where it was, also where he had left his vest. It has since been learned the razor had not been found. He had shaved off his moustache with a safety razor, which was found in his pocket. Vesta said he had been hiding in the woods since Friday night. The reason he gave for killing the woman was that she had stolen $427 from him. A search of the house at Highland Falls revealed only $10 in a pillow case. Vesta wanted to be taken to Sing Sing at once and placed in the death house.
Great credit is due to Sheriff Smith and Seth Jocelyn for their quick work in getting on their job, as they always have done, and their success in capturing the murderer.

LAWSON CRAFT TO BE SEEN HERE

In Sunday's Times appeared a picture of what is said to be the largest aeroplane in the world. It has a wing spread of 95 feet, carries 26 passengers and makes a speed of 100 miles an hour. This morning word was received in town that the machine, which is making a flight from Milwaukee to Mineola, Long Island, would probably pass over Kingston on its trip.
The machine has successfully completed the trip to Syracuse but when landing at the field in Syracuse it struck soft muddy ground and its landing gear stuck fast throwing the machine over on its nose and damaging it. Repairs will be made and the trip resumed in a few days. Should the machine pass over Kingston in its flight Edgar W. Croft, one of the newspaper correspondents on the big plane will Coronotype a message to Charles A. Warren, the local agent of the Corona typewriter, and drop it by parachute.
The big plane which is known as the Lawson Airliner is powered by 12 twelve cylinder engines developing 400 horsepower each. The engines being housed in bodies that are larger than the fuselage of the De Havilland airplane. Such as Lieut. Adams used in his flight over Kingston a few days ago in his flight to Toronto from New York city and return.
The propellers are 10 feet 6 inches long and when revolving at 1,800 revolutions a minute drive the big airliner at 100 miles an hour. The craft weighs 13,500 pounds and carries 300 gallons of gasoline which is sufficient for a trip of 1,000 miles. At the completion of the trip to Mineola the big machine will start on a trip to San Francisco.

AN ACTION OVER WAR CONTRACT

Judge Hasbrouck to Try and Decide if Hiltrebraut's Bill of Particulars Complies With Court Order—Boulders Being Sued For Payment on Sub-Contract Tanks.
Echoes of the great war reverberated in the county court house at Judge Hasbrouck's special term on Saturday morning on the hearing of a motion made on behalf of the Stevens-Aylsworth Company, Inc., of New York, against the Hiltrebraut Dry Dock Company, Inc., of this city, to compel the Hiltrebrauts to furnish the plaintiff with a full bill of particulars as to the damages set up in the counter-claim interposed by them to the suit brought by the plaintiff to recover $12,000 for gasoline tanks furnished by it to the Hiltrebrauts for the submarine chasers built by them for the government.
It appeared that the Hiltrebrauts had a number of contracts for submarine chasers, one of which was for $668,000; that they contracted with the plaintiff for gasoline tanks for these vessels, agreeing to pay for the tanks $16,000. The plaintiff claims that of this amount the Hiltrebrauts have paid but $4,107. The Hiltrebrauts defend the action upon the ground that the tanks furnished were not up to the specifications; that such as were furnished were not furnished on time; that they were obliged to get tanks elsewhere, and consequently were delayed in performing their government contract, as a result of which they do not owe the plaintiff anything, but on the contrary the plaintiff owes them $6,000 for damages.
The plaintiff thereupon moved for a full bill of particulars of these alleged losses. The matter it appears came up before Judge Hasbrouck 10 o'clock, and was adjourned at the request of the Hiltrebrauts to enable them to procure a copy of their contract from the navy department at Washington. Amos Van Etten, representing the Hiltrebrauts, claimed that this had been furnished, together with a full bill of particulars as the Hiltrebrauts could procure.
Judge Clearwater, representing the Stevens-Aylsworth Company, the plaintiff, said that the contract with the government had only been furnished on Thursday, September 4th. That the bill of particulars furnished was not the one which the appellate division had directed the Hiltrebrauts to furnish, and that it was utterly impossible for his clients even to attempt to try the case without fuller information regarding the alleged damages which the Hiltrebrauts claimed to have sustained; that they had deliberately and consummately defied the order of the appellate division requiring them to furnish a full bill of particulars, and desired to ascertain whether such contumacy was permissible.
Judge Hasbrouck said he would take all the papers, and endeavor to study out whether the bill furnished was or was not a compliance with the order of the appellate division.

BOICEVILLE REUNION GROWS

The reunion of the old inhabitants of the Ashokan watershed, together with those now residing there, which was held at Mr. Lambert's grove on Labor Day, was a gratifying success. The folks of old Olive are returning to this reunion with ever increasing numbers each year and this year, in spite of the threatening weather conditions, the attendance was the largest ever seen on the grounds. By unanimous vote last year it was decided to have a band present and Muller's band of Kingston was in attendance and delighted those present with many selections of the popular airs at very frequent intervals. Their music was so much appreciated that the payment of their bill was over-subscribed more than twice and the surplus will probably be used in fixing up the grounds for future reunions.
This reunion is a unique meeting of its kind. Once a year all the former and present residents of the watershed district meet for a few hours to renew their old friendships and to say that the opportunity is appreciated would hardly do the meeting justice. A very pleasing feature of the occasion is the hearty address of welcome and Godspeed given by our host, Mr. Lambert. He seems to enjoy the opportunity of expounding the use of his beautiful grove for his friends. After greetings have been exchanged between neighbor and neighbor, each one sits down to his basket of lunch, after which Mr. Lambert makes his address and to show that he appreciated it need only be said that his speech was followed by the collection, which as above stated, was twice over-subscribed. Short addresses were then made by the Rev. Mr. Ingersoll of Mt. Tremper and by Canon Murray of Ellenville.
The weather man seemed to have looked out especially for us this year, as he stopped the rain just long enough to hold the festivities and then proceeded with the deluge.
Willow Re-Nominated.
The Republicans of the town of Ulster, on Saturday, nominated for supervisor, Luther D. Willow, the present incumbent. Frank Kirtin is the Democratic nominee.

NEW YORK OUTDOES ITSELF TO WELCOME GEN. PERSHING

Landing From Leviathan, the Remainder of Commander-in-Chief's Day is a Succession of Ovations and Evidences of Regard From All Classes.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 8.—General John J. Pershing, commander of America's two million victorious crusaders, hero of the world war, responsible head of the army that turned the tide of battle at Verdun and St. Mihiel, came home today in triumph after more than two years in France.
In behalf of a grateful nation, New York in holiday dress, welcomed him with joyous pride and unrestrained emotion, giving vent to its enthusiasm by all of the time honored means that men have to avail a chosen personage and pay just tribute to distinguished national service. It is doubtful if greater outbursts of enthusiasm ever greeted any other man in this city.
The three-day celebration, which will come to an end with a monster parade and review of the first division on Wednesday, began at dawn this morning, when a fleet of boats bearing distinguished personages and a flotilla of airplanes went down the bay to give the first greeting to the home-coming hero.
The first welcoming committee to come up with the Pershing ship was that representing the United States army. It was closely followed by the municipal steamer Correction bearing Mayor Hylan and committee, the committee of prominent citizens representing President Wilson, and Secretary of War Baker's party. Though President Wilson was prevented by his speaking tour from taking part, he was represented by a large committee of prominent men appointed by Secretary of War Baker. The committee included Henry P. Davidson, Cleveland H. Dodge, William G. McAdoo, Bernard M. Baruch, Nicholas Brady, J. L. Reynolds, John D. Ryan, Harry Payne Whitney and Morimer Schiff.
Conveyed by a fleet of pulling tug boats, the Leviathan began to warp into her pier at Hoboken at 10 minutes after 8, while the crowd lining both shores of the Hudson and the thousands who jammed roof tops and window sills pointed kept up their din of shouting and excited flag waving.
It was 8:45 before the Leviathan was made fast to her Hoboken pier. As she had not stopped at Quarantine, the transport was not officially declared "docked" until the quarantine officer, who had boarded her west shore at 9:15. General Pershing followed five minutes later to be greeted by Secretary of War Baker with a hearty handshake and a heartier slap upon the back.
In the first rank of the crowd upon the pier were the general's two sisters. With long, eager strides he stepped to their side, took them tenderly in his arms and kissed them. Then escorted by Secretary Baker and other officials, General Pershing was taken to an impromptu meeting upon the upper floor of the dock.
So touched was the veteran by the warmth and heartiness of the welcome, that he found it hard to respond to the request of the newspaper correspondents for an expression.
"What can one say under such circumstances as these," said General Pershing. "This reception is overwhelming. It is simply overwhelming."
"It would be superfluous for me to add anything, but I accept this demonstration in the name of the brave fellows who went over to France and sacrificed so much and made this wonderful success possible."
It gave an emotional touch to the proceedings that General Pershing, standing amidst the tumult and plaudits of his hero-worshipping fellow countrymen, thought first of his humble doughboys and then gave them the credit for all the valiant exploits on the European battle fields.
The whole grand scale of human emotion found outlet in the excited comedy as well as pathos and thrills. Later the general was photographed in the midst of his staff. As he passed on the pier he was surrounded by reporters. One woman reported an interview, exclaimed: "General, we have been waiting all night to talk to you."
General Pershing looked down at the eager eyes and flushed cheeks and smiled a fatherly smile.
General Pershing left Hoboken at 10 o'clock, reaching Battery Park at 10:20 to receive the greatest ovation New York city has ever known. The hero of all this demonstration was himself dumfounded at the magnitude and the whole-heartedness of it.
Four minutes after stepping from the transfer boat, the procession started up Broadway for city hall—a procession that will linger for many years in the memory of all who saw and heard it.
General Pershing walked from the boat to his automobile while the air rocked and trembled about him from the shouts of ten thousands of cheering throngs. It was a hurra of noise such as only a real American general could put over when it is good and worked up and wants to show the object of its enthusiasm is 100 per cent hero.
General Pershing paused for a moment gazing over the dense mass of humanity that stretched across Battery Park and lower Broadway and eddied away into the side streets holding up all traffic save for a narrow lane that the policemen kept open with tremendous difficulty. The mighty ring of sky scrapers that fringe Battery Park were decorated at every window with human heads. From the roof thousands of tons of chopped up paper and tape was thrown and if it had not been so hot, one could easily have imagined a blizzard raining. Old Broadway was one mass of red, white and blue.

WILSON TALKS ON RESERVATIONS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Wilson Auditorium, Omaha, Neb., Sept. 8.—President Wilson again demanded here today that the people and in ratification of the Versailles treaty. Addressing an audience that filled every inch of space in the big auditorium, he declared ratification was absolutely necessary to "ratify the land titles of the whole world."
The United States must lead in the approval of the treaty to guarantee the rights of smaller nations of Europe, he said.
"The constitution of the league of nations is a guarantee to endure," said the president. "I would be recreant to the fathers and mothers of this nation if I did not demand this guarantee. It is not an absolute guarantee, but it is a guarantee and even a ten percent guarantee would be a great step forward. And if this guarantee is not lived up to I want to say in another generation or two, we must have another and far more disastrous war."
The chief feature of the president's address here was his discussion of the problem of reservations. He declared that the timidity of opponents of the league who wanted always to be prepared to scuttle, was hard to understand. What are they afraid of? he demanded.

CAREER OF THE
FRIGATE ALLIANCE

The following is the history of the career of the frigate Alliance in which Lafayette twice crossed the Atlantic, a portion of the oak of which was loaned to the Daughters of the American Revolution by Judge Clearwater, and exhibited at the block party Friday evening:

Department of the Navy,
Washington,
March 7, 1912.

My Dear Congressman:

In reply to your letter of the 5th instant, enclosing a request from the Hon. A. T. Clearwater, of Kingston, N. Y., for a history of the frigate Alliance, I take pleasure in furnishing the following information:

The U. S. frigate Alliance was built at Salisbury, Mass., in 1777. Her armament is variously given as 32 and 36 guns. When Commodore Barre took command of her in 1781 she was spoken of as the "finest frigate in the navy."

Under command of Capt. Pierre Landais, formerly of the French navy but who had offered his services to America, the Alliance took General Lafayette to France, arriving there in 1779.

On August 31, and September 1, 1779, she took part in the capture of the Betsey and Union, and shared in other prizes taken by the squadron of John Paul Jones.

Owing to the remarkable actions of Landais the part taken by the Alliance in the famous engagement of September 23, 1779, between the Bon Homme Richard and the Serapis off Flamborough Head, England, has been rather than helped Jones successfully, after lying some time in the Texel, Jones transferred from his prizes to the Alliance all that remained of the crew of the Bon Homme Richard and sailed for France, arriving at l'Orient February 10, 1780. In July of the same year Capt. Landais who had been suspended on account of his conduct in the battle off Flan-borough Head, again assumed command of the Alliance, and returned in her to America.

On February 11, 1781 under command of Captain John Barry, the Alliance again sailed for l'Orient, taking to France Colonel Laurens and suite, who were sent on an important diplomatic mission. While enroute she captured the Alert, of 12 guns.
After landing the passengers, Barry cruised off the coast of France, where in company with the letter-of-marque Marquis de Lafayette, he captured the Mars and Minerva, of 26 and 10 guns respectively, on April 2, 1781.
On May 2 and 3, he made prizes of two British vessels from Jamaica.

On May 28, 1781, the Alliance engaged two British ships, the Atlanta, of 20 guns, and the Trepasse, of 34 guns, engaging both at the same time. After a hard fight, in which Capt Barry was severely wounded, she captured both ships.

On December 25, she carried General Lafayette and the Count de Noailles on an important mission to France. This accomplished, she sailed on her return trip, February, 1782.

The last great fight of the Alliance took place March 7, 1783. In company with the Duc De Lauzon (by some authorities mentioned as the Luzerne) she was returning to the United States with specie of congress and with supplies. They encountered the British frigate Sybille, 32, and after an action of fifty minutes the Sybille hoisted a signal of distress.
The Alliance was obliged to abandon this prize to avoid being captured herself by the British squadron, of which it formed a part. This was almost the last naval engagement of the Revolution.

In 1784 this last ship of the Continental navy was recommended to be repaired and preserved, but congress decided that she must be sold, which was done at Philadelphia, June 3, 1785, and she was then converted into an "Indian."

In June, 1787, commanded by Capt Thomas Read, the Alliance sailed on a voyage to China. On this voyage Capt. Read "navigated a route unpracticed by any other ship" passing the south cape of New Holland, and discovering many islands, one of which Capt. Read gave the name of "Morris" and to another "Alliance." From this tour of the globe the Alliance returned to Philadelphia in September 17, 1788. On April 20, 1789, she was handsomely decorated upon the occasion of the reception to General Washington as he passed through Philadelphia on his way to his first inauguration at New York.

The old ship was finally laid up on Perry's Island, opposite Richmond, near Philadelphia, where it is said her remains are visible at low tide.
Mr. Clearwater's letter is herewith returned.

Faithfully yours,
(Signature undecipherable.)

Hon. George W. Fairchild,

Germs Pressed to Death.

The Nebraska State Journal records one of the most interesting developments in the dairy industry is the announcement that germs can be killed by pressure. This leads to the belief that the old method of centrifuging milk by heat, which has been found objectionable in some respects, may be supplanted. It is claimed for the pressure system that the delicate flavors or enzymes in milk are not destroyed and that no changes are made in the taste or general condition. The pressure is applied by means of a hydraulic pump.
It is possible to apply as high a pressure as 100,000 pounds to the square inch. A pressure of 35,000 pounds to the square inch for 15 minutes has been found to kill many bacteria. High pressure can be supplied when the germs are extraordinarily stubborn. In general it is believed that a pressure of 30,000 pounds for 20 minutes will serve every practical purpose. This material is found in a statement recently issued by the American Chemical Society. Coming from such a source it will be accepted as authoritative as well as interesting.

portant end in itself. It should be

THE DELICIOUS PEACH.

No more delicious dish for dessert can be served than one of sliced peaches with cream and sugar.

When peaches are plentiful one likes to vary the serving. A most appetizing pie may be made by baking a rich crust and when cold fill it with sliced peaches well steamed and covered with sweetened cream. To make it still more beautiful sprinkle with finely minced pistache nuts or with shredded blanched almonds.

A bird's nest pudding is another form of dessert well liked. Slice a pie pan half full of peaches and cover with a baking powder biscuit dough.
Bake and turn over on a plate, spread with butter and sprinkle sugar and a little nutmeg if liked over the peaches.

Peach Pudding.—Pour a cupful of hot milk over a cupful of dry bread crumbs and let stand five minutes;
add a half cupful of sugar, the well-beaten yolk of three eggs and the stiffly beaten white of one. Mix well and bake in a moderate oven until done. Heap thinly sliced peaches well steamed over the top and cover with a marmalade made of the two egg whites and three tablespoonsful of sugar. Cover the pudding with the marmalade and bake until a delicate brown. Cuke crumbs make a more delicious pudding.

Rice With Peaches.—Cook one cupful of rice until tender, adding milk at the last of the cooking; season with butter and add sugar to sweeten, then pour into a hollow mold. When ready to serve unroll and fill the center with sweetened sliced peaches and serve with cream and sugar.

Peach Chutney.—Prepare three pounds of peaches after peeling. Put them into a saucepan with a pint of mild vinegar; cook until tender.
Pound in a mortar four ounces of onion and two ounces of garlic. Stir ounces of fresh ginger root; add the peaches with six ounces of raisins, an ounce each of white mustard seed and chili peppers and six ounces of sugar, simmer ten minutes and add more vinegar if needed. Bottle for winter use.

Handicapped.
"Do you think you will win this case?" "No," said the lawyer for the more or less fair plaintiff. "What's the trouble?" "There will be no necessity for building a fence around my client when I put her on the witness stand."

COUNTY W. C. T. U. CONVENTION HELD

(Official Report.)

The 39th annual convention of the Ulster County W. C. T. U. was held in the New Hurley Reformed Church Wednesday and Thursday, September 3 and 4.

Despite the downpour of rain and inclement weather several delegates braved the weather, and we began our program although a little late.

The old historic church presented a very inviting appearance, in contrast to the gloomy weather outside, being very prettily decorated. Frances Willard's portrait occupying a prominent place on the platform.

In the absence of our president and vice-president, Mrs. J. D. Rose, corresponding secretary, presided. Mrs. Alice Crispell was called to the platform to act in the vice-president's place.

Mrs. Elizabeth Alsford of Wallkill took charge of the devotional services. All joined in singing the old hymn "How Firm a Foundation." Mrs. Alsford read the 146th Psalm. Miss Kiersted of Kingston offered an earnest prayer asking God's blessing on our gathering.

Mrs. Rose declared our convention opened for business. Roll call found four officers present and six unions were represented, delegates responding with scripture selections.

Rev. G. B. Scholten, pastor of the church, welcomed us. He spoke of Miss Willard's statue being that of the only woman in statutory hall in Washington and it was very fitting for her portrait to have so prominent place on the platform. Mr. Scholten gave us a warm welcome, and said it was dry outside even though it was wet outside. He understood that the territory in the vicinity of the church had been dry for 40 years. He wondered why the east had always been so much more backward in all temperance reforms than the west, and spoke of the good work done by different organizations, the W. C. T. U., Anti-Saloon League, L. T. L., etc.

Again Mr. Scholten welcomed us in the name of the local W. C. T. U. and the church.

Mrs. Rose responded in a few well chosen words. Mrs. Helen J. Palmer reported for the department of anti-prostitution. Miss Alice Kiersted of Kingston reported on penal and reformatory work. Mrs. D. B. Hendershott reported on Sabbath observance.

Mrs. Edward Schoonmaker of Highland voiced the noon-tide prayer. Rev. George Schofield of Highland was welcomed and said he felt as though he belonged to the W. C. T. U. as he was glad to be with us in our fight against the rain and not against his enthusiasm or kept him from coming and bringing others.

Let us be glad that we can have a part in tearing down the walls of kind alcohol and not be only in America but in the world.

Mrs. Bell, our president was welcomed and Mrs. Edward Young who had responded to the welcome gave us encouraging words. We are nothing to fear, but everything to hope for greater victories in the future.

Mrs. Bell now presided and said we were glad to be here at last, saying they were delayed by tire trouble.

Mrs. Edward Young of Milton gave her report on evangelistic work and had not fully completed it as yet, so would hand it in later. Rev. Mr. Scholten dismissed us with the benediction. Delegates and visitors partook of a box lunch at the parsonage, the entertaining union serving hot coffee and fruit.

The Wednesday afternoon session opened with a devotional service conducted by Mrs. Edward Schofield of Highland. All joined in singing "He Leadeth Me." Scripture was read from 5th chapter of Matthew. A number of sentence prayers were offered. Convention proper was called to order by the president, Mrs. Bell.

The morning session was opened and presided, Mrs. Edward Schoonmaker with the corresponding secretary were appointed credential committee. Literature, Mrs. Schofield, Miss May Minard and Miss Mary Thompson were appointed as courtier committees. Mrs. Howe was appointed to take subscriptions to the Kingston Freeman containing the report of our convention. In the absence of the vice president, Mrs. Edward Young of Milton was appointed to take her place on the platform. After singing a hymn Mrs. Young announced the annual address by our president, Mrs. Bell. Mrs. Bell said: "The past year has been a noted year in the annals of the W. C. T. U. Many problems are yet to be settled, but great results have been accomplished. There is much yet to be gained. Enemies are stirring to overthrow what has already been accomplished. Many problems confront our nation, labor and capital, conflicts, race riots, high cost of living, and how are they to be settled. Women are saying, 'Our work is done. We have prohibition. What is the use of our work on and raising all our extra money? But our work is not done. We must work on for future generations, for public sentiment to be kept agitated and educated. One of our greatest problems is to keep our young people interested in the church and W. C. T. U. so that we will have them coming up to take our places."

"Let us be willing to do the little things that come to us, not only what we would like to do. What would the world do if woman had to be paid for her time? She is willing to give her services, has taken up the 'Do or die' policy. Women have been coming on year after year in this work, never knowing when they are defeated—not willing to give up. Many said when the jubilee work was taken up, 'Oh, it cannot be done.' But we have gone on, and we remember that which is impossible to men is possible to God. Let us be faithful until the end. Keep up the enthusiasm. Get a new vision of what our work needs. Wake up and know what it means to live. Let us take courage and go forth knowing that the Lord is with us as He was with Joshua of old."

This report was accepted with a rising vote of thanks.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. Rose, gave her annual report. She has served us four years, and went into the work determined to do her best. 19 unions were reported in the county. Never in the history of Ulster county has so much money been raised as in the past year. $22,197 raised for all purposes: 742 active members, 101 honorary members in county. 18 members gained in the county the past year. A large amount of work has been accomplished by Mrs. Rose which must have taken a great deal of time. This splendid report was accepted with a rising vote of thanks. A much enjoyed solo was rendered by Miss Bessie Schoonmaker of New Hurley, entitled, "Just a Bow of Ribbon White." An offering was taken for county work. Miss Margaret Sloat president of Orange county, was introduced and gave us words of greeting. Miss Mottie Conine, L. T. L. secretary, gave her report. It is very important to train our children. Wallkill L. T. L. has all the points for a victory legion. There are eight legions in the county and all have done good work. This report was accepted with a rising vote of thanks. Miss Young read a letter from Miss Anna Gordon concerning our combating the nicotine habit. Miss Sloat said she thought the situation more embarrassing than alarming, and although we may not be understood now in time to come our purpose may be known by what we do. It has always been an important department in our work to educate the children against the use of nicotine and its evil results.

The L. T. L. of New Hurley nearly 25 strong marched in wearing campaign hats and carrying flags and pennants. They sang "We'll take the world for Christ's own kingdom some glad day." The following program was rendered: Recitation, "Happy Greetings"—Dorothy Powell; Recitation, "Cut It Out"—Helen Hawkins; Recitation, "A Very Bad Case"—Corinne Wilkin; Recitation, "The L. T. L."—Marguerite Vance; Exercise "The Men and Women of Tomorrow"—By Several Boys and Girls; Recitation, "When I Am a Man"—Anthony Brereton; Recitation, "Debauchery"—Borden Monell; Piano Solo—LeVerne Powell; Recitation, "William Monell"—William Monell; Recitation, "The Cigarette Boy"—LeVerne Powell; Recitation, "Good Afternoon"—John Powell.

This hour was much enjoyed by all, the children all taking their parts well.

The Y. P. B. hour followed during which the young people of the New Hurley Circle rendered a pleasing program, which follows: Piano Solo—Miss Myrtle Gale; Reading, "Blessed Sabbath Morning"—Miss Marie Van Wyck; Vocal Solo—Miss Elizabeth Schoonmaker; Reading, "The Failure"—Gerard Wilkin; Essay, "The Joy of Service"—Mrs. Charles Evelett; Essay, "The Joy of Service"—Miss Mary Thompson; Piano Solo, "Moonlight Waves"—Miss Myrtle Gale.

Mrs. Crispell Y. P. B. secretary gave her yearly report. National motto of the Y. P. B. this year is, "Loyalty is the Key Stone of Victory." Mrs. Crispell's report was accepted with a rising vote of thanks for the good work done in her department.

The Rev. Mr. Seamon from Plattkill was introduced and greeted us with an encouraging message. The afternoon session closed with the doxology.

Wednesday evening's session opened with a devotional service in charge of the Rev. G. B. Scholten. All joined in singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Mr. Scholten read from Hebrews 11 chap. and offered an earnest prayer.

A quartet, comprising Mr. and Mrs. Monell, Miss Bessie Schoonmaker, and Charles Evelett, sang "The Church in the Wilderness." Master Charles Conine gave a much enjoyed recitation.

Mrs. Edward Young of Milton, key-note woman of Ulster county, in the jubilee Campaign Fund gave us some ideas regarding this fund. She said our $1,000,000 was expected to raise looked very small in contrast to the billion dollars pledged to fight the W. C. T. U. by the great association, but one with God was a majority and surely God has been with us. Mrs. Young told of the work done by the different unions in raising their quotas. Mrs. Minard and Mrs. Young sang the jubilee song, all joining in the chorus. Miss Edith Thorne of Wallkill sang a solo much enjoyed by all and was recalled and sang again for our pleasure.

Miss Margaret Sloat, Pres. of Orange county, gave the address of the evening. Her subject being, "The Triumph of Faith." She said she had been much interested in the account of the raising of the Jubilee Fund as Ulster and Orange counties had been the first in the state to raise their quotas.

Tonight we come to sound the jubilee, for the 19th amendment has been ratified. On January 1st, next year we shall begin the year with a nation freed from the curse of rum. We can indeed "Sound the Jubilee." To the combined forces of the prohibition party, W. C. T. U., anti-saloon league, to our church we give the jubilee for the accomplishment of this great victory. All honor to them.

Miss Sloat told of Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingston when traveling from New York to Chicago getting in conversation with a man whom she later learned to be of the liquor fraternity. He told Mrs. Livingston that the W. C. T. U. had done more to bring about prohibition than any other organization in existence. Applause.

The W. C. T. U. has been instrumental in training up our children through the L. T. L. to take their places. We need to persist and increase in our work. We have reached boys and girls by introducing a quarterly temperance lesson in our Sunday school by introducing scientific educational propaganda was well planned out for our boys and girls by our W. C. T. U. We have a vast organization made ourselves known in legislative halls. The liquor element have kept changing their tactics by changing their representatives. Miss Sloat told of her experience in attending the hearing at Albany for the voting upon the 18th amendment and of how proud she was of New York state assemblymen for their stand. Miss Sloat thought that if St. Paul could ever rewrite the 11th ch. of Hebrews he would include our many noble women, the galaxy of the noble women who have worked, toiled and prayed to bring about one great victory. Miss Sloat closed with some beautiful lines. "In due season we shall reap." We were favored with a solo by Mr. Thorne of Wallkill who sang, "Kipling's Recessional" and graciously responded with an encore, "Evening Breeze Rest." An offering was taken. Rev. Ernest Clapp of New Paltz was called to the platform. He said his father was one of the leading prohibitionists of North Carolina. We have done a tremendous amount of work, but there is still a vast amount for us to do yet, and we must have faith to confront the great problems yet confronting us. God bless the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Thorne favored us with another pleasing solo.

Announcements were made regarding the morning's session. The doxology was sung and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Clapp of New Paltz.

Thursday morning's session opened with a promise meeting led by Mrs. George LeFever of Gardiner. We sang "Come Thou Almighty King." Mrs. LeFever read the 11th chapter of John and offered an earnest prayer. After singing "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," convention was called to order by our president, Mrs. Bell.

The flower mission report was read by Mrs. Alice Crispell. Miss Catherine A. Devo of New Paltz, superintendent. Miss Devo always has a most excellent report and a large amount of work is accomplished.

Mrs. George LeFever of Gardiner, superintendent of soldiers and sailors, gave a good report. Miss K. W. Devo, superintendent of social meetings and red letter days, could not be present and her report was read by Mrs. Hurd. This report was not quite complete, not all unions having reported several social evening meetings held at which 21 new members were gained. Dr. P. N. Chase was present and gave a few words of greeting and spoke of conditions prevailing in the prohibition party.

Mrs. Crispell reported for school of methods and parliamentary drill. Mrs. Hurd, press department, reported no blanks received from state to send out, only one had been sent in from Mrs. Young of Milton. Mrs. Young reported a goodly amount of work accomplished through the press. Mrs. Edward Schofield reported work done in literature department. Mrs. Graham Hurd of Clintonville conducted a memorial service. A portion of St. Luke was read and prayer offered by Mrs. Hurd. Roll call of unions showed loss of seven by death. A beautiful poem, "There is No Death," was read by Mrs. Hurd, and the service closed with singing "Nearer My God to Thee."

The jubilee song was sung by Mrs. Minard and Mrs. Young, the audience joining in the chorus.

other organization in existence. Applause.

The W. C. T. U. has been instrumental in training up our children through the L. T. L. to take their places. We need to persist and increase in our work. We have reached boys and girls by introducing a quarterly temperance lesson in our Sunday school by introducing scientific educational propaganda was well planned out for our boys and girls by our W. C. T. U. We have a vast organization made ourselves known in legislative halls. The liquor element have kept changing their tactics by changing their representatives. Miss Sloat told of her experience in attending the hearing at Albany for the voting upon the 18th amendment and of how proud she was of New York state assemblymen for their stand. Miss Sloat thought that if St. Paul could ever rewrite the 11th ch. of Hebrews he would include our many noble women, the galaxy of the noble women who have worked, toiled and prayed to bring about one great victory. Miss Sloat closed with some beautiful lines. "In due season we shall reap." We were favored with a solo by Mr. Thorne of Wallkill who sang, "Kipling's Recessional" and graciously responded with an encore, "Evening Breeze Rest." An offering was taken. Rev. Ernest Clapp of New Paltz was called to the platform. He said his father was one of the leading prohibitionists of North Carolina. We have done a tremendous amount of work, but there is still a vast amount for us to do yet, and we must have faith to confront the great problems yet confronting us. God bless the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Thorne favored us with another pleasing solo.

Announcements were made regarding the morning's session. The doxology was sung and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Clapp of New Paltz.

Thursday morning's session opened with a promise meeting led by Mrs. George LeFever of Gardiner. We sang "Come Thou Almighty King." Mrs. LeFever read the 11th chapter of John and offered an earnest prayer. After singing "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," convention was called to order by our president, Mrs. Bell.

The flower mission report was read by Mrs. Alice Crispell. Miss Catherine A. Devo of New Paltz, superintendent. Miss Devo always has a most excellent report and a large amount of work is accomplished.

Mrs. George LeFever of Gardiner, superintendent of soldiers and sailors, gave a good report. Miss K. W. Devo, superintendent of social meetings and red letter days, could not be present and her report was read by Mrs. Hurd. This report was not quite complete, not all unions having reported several social evening meetings held at which 21 new members were gained. Dr. P. N. Chase was present and gave a few words of greeting and spoke of conditions prevailing in the prohibition party.

Mrs. Crispell reported for school of methods and parliamentary drill. Mrs. Hurd, press department, reported no blanks received from state to send out, only one had been sent in from Mrs. Young of Milton. Mrs. Young reported a goodly amount of work accomplished through the press. Mrs. Edward Schofield reported work done in literature department. Mrs. Graham Hurd of Clintonville conducted a memorial service. A portion of St. Luke was read and prayer offered by Mrs. Hurd. Roll call of unions showed loss of seven by death. A beautiful poem, "There is No Death," was read by Mrs. Hurd, and the service closed with singing "Nearer My God to Thee."

The jubilee song was sung by Mrs. Minard and Mrs. Young, the audience joining in the chorus.

President, Mrs. Martha H. Bell of Milton. Vice president, Mrs. Edward

Young of Milton. Corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. D. Rose of Highland. Recording secretary, Mrs. J. Albert Palen, of Wallkill. Treasurer, Mrs. D. B. Hendricks, of Kingston.

Y. P. B. Sec. Mrs. Alice Crispell, L. T. L. Sec. Mrs. Mottie Conine. A pleasing feature during the election of officers was the pinning of the white ribbon upon two dear little babies, Cordelia Monell and Agnes Frances Scholten.

We joined in singing "Precious Jewels." Noon-tide prayer was offered by Mrs. Della M. Terwilliger of Plattkill.

The reports of the various superintendents were accepted with thanks. Rev. Henry Brink of Gardiner said tribute to the influence exerted by the W. C. T. U. The morning session closed with the doxology and benediction by Rev. Brink.

The New Hurley W. C. T. U. served a fine chicken dinner at the parsonage at noon.

The Thursday afternoon session opened with a Bible reading by Miss Anna Birdsall of Plattkill. Miss Birdsall really gave us an outline of W. C. T. U. missionary work in Japan.

Miss Birdsall left before us this motto: "Not sighs, but songs. Not excuses, but service."

Miss Birdsall is to take up missionary work in Japan and was extended the best wishes of the county W. C. T. U. in her new field of work.

The minutes of the morning session were read and approved. Minutes of the executive sessions were adopted.

The corresponding secretary was instructed to send greetings to the W. C. T. U. in Tokio, Japan, where Miss Birdsall expects to go. Mrs. Kate Covert reported on the department of household thrift. Highland being the only union to report.

This report was accepted with thanks. The resolution committee rendered the following resolutions:

Resolved—That we give praise and all adoration to our Heavenly Father for the unprecedented blessings showered upon us as His people in the temperance reform work during this victory year. First for ratification of the national constitutional prohibition amendment by 45 states which will go into effect January 16, 1920. Second, for wartime prohibition which has been in force since July 1, 1919, and for the efforts made on the part of Attorney General Palmer for enforcement of the same. Third, for victories gained by united federated efforts for temperance reform, for the victories gained in our own ranks and by our own workers.

Last, but not least, that the world war is at an end and peace plans well under way.

We voice our appreciation and heart-felt thanks to our capable key-note woman, Mrs. Eliza Keates Young for her efficient work and untiring efforts to have Ulster county go over the top in raising its quota for the Jubilee Fund.

We extend our thanks to the New Hurley union for its gracious cordial welcome, and bountiful and excellent entertainment to the officials of the church for allowing us the use of their beautiful edifice, to the musicians for their services, and to all who in any way have helped to make our convention a success.

The ladies of New Hurley were called to the platform and after offering words and an earnest prayer by our president, Mrs. Bell, all joined hands and sang, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and our convention was declared closed.

At the executive session Thursday afternoon the following superintendents were appointed:

Let not the old home love forget them in that pleasant home of sacred peace as in a lonely world torn room "read" the gentle revelation heed. Love will shall wait for them at home.

The wrong they may do shall not hinder Still a reward to find what's right. Let them be in that home and children as they should be in the home. There'll be no lack of those who will comfort. So let love wait for them at home—Guiding Glimpses in Farm Life.

ATHLETICS FOR MERCHANT 'GOBS'

Sports of All Kinds Provided for Men in Training.

BASEBALL IS MOST POPULAR

Basketball, Swimming, Rowing Races, Boxing and Track Contests Are All Encouraged as a Part of Training to Fit Men for Duties at Sea—Military Setting Up Exercises Given Under Direction of Athletic Trainer.

Athletics for merchant sailors were unheard of until the United States shipping board began to develop the country's trade fleets.

Now at the training stations, maintained by the board's recruiting service, where young Americans by the thousands have been fitted for service in merchant crews, it is the accepted rule to maintain a full schedule of athletic events, for the benefit of the apprentices in training.

These apprentices are all American young men, a majority of whom have played baseball at home, and all of whom are interested in the national game. At the training stations of the merchant marine, where they spend their time when ashore, in their two months' period of training, they find a fine ball team of merchant mariners to engage their attention.

The team plays similar teams in the army or the navy, and the merchant marine boys are given plenty of opportunity to root for their own service.

In addition to baseball, the merchant marine apprentices go in for basketball in season, for boxing, track events and rowing. They are taught Athletic instructor, drill like veterans. Furthermore, they are given military setup, squad-leading and squad-leading until they get the drill down pat. They also take the stiffest sort of calisthenic, drill like veterans.

All this is done to keep the boys fit, physically and mentally, while they are in training for sea service.

The shipping board's athletic system has been developed in the last four months under Arthur F. Cooley, third officer of the training ship Meade, station ship at the Atlantic base of the recruiting service at Boston.

The personality of Third Officer Cooley, who also has the title of athletic director, is in keeping with his picturesque job. He is a soldier, with a long and varied career, a veteran of the Philippine campaign, a crack shot with the big guns of the coast artillery, a baseball player, a football player and a drill master.

Born in Chattanooga, Tenn., 38 years ago, Mr. Cooley enlisted in the army for the Spanish war. After serving three years in the Philippines, fighting in Panay, Cebu and Negros, and playing ball in the Manila service league when fighting was not brisk, Cooley came back to his native land and played ball on the Third United States Infantry team in Kentucky.

Wine Commission. Transferred to Governor's Island, he next played in the Coast Defense team of New York.

In 1909 he went into the coast artillery and was stationed at Newport, R. I., as a platoon leader in the 1st coast battery of the coast defense.

The big break brought Mr. Cooley shoulder straps. In 1917 he became a lieutenant in the army. For two years he served as assistant provost marshal at Boston.

January 19, 1919, Mr. Cooley joined the recruiting service of the United States shipping board as athletic officer at the Atlantic base, and fourth officer of the Meade, from which post he was soon promoted to third officer.

HEAVY CUT IN COAL YIELD BY CAR SHORTAGE

12,000,000 Tons Lost in Ten Weeks by Inadequate Supply of Cars.

600,000 MINERS PLAN TO ASK WAGE INCREASE

Operators Tell Senate Committee That Radical Miners Are Trying to Install Soviet Methods in Mining.

Washington—(Special).—Shortage of cars in the coal fields has cut production of bituminous coal 12,000,000 tons in ten weeks and threatens to bring about a recurrence of the coal famine of 1917-18 unless checked without delay, according to testimony given by John Callahan, traffic manager of the National Coal Association, before the Senate committee investigating the coal situation at its hearing here.

"During the two weeks ending August 2 and 9," Mr. Callahan said, "the car shortage caused the bituminous coal mines of the country to lose approximately 12,000,000 tons of coal, enough to supply the entire state of New Jersey for ten months. The loss in ten weeks has been sufficient to supply all the New England states for eight months."

Mr. Callahan declared that if there are not more cars at the mines it is impossible to operate the mines to full capacity. The shortage of cars, he said, is causing a demand for coal in summer, and at a time when railroad efficiency should be at a maximum.

"If the bituminous coal operators of the country are given sufficient cars to take away the coal they mine," Mr. Callahan said, "and if there are no labor disturbances to prevent the operation of their mines, they can supply sufficient fuel to meet the country's requirements next fall and winter. If they are not supplied with more cars, there undoubtedly will be a repetition of the coal shortage of 1917-18—at least to some degree."

Shortage of cars is not alone the only threatening situation in the industry, however, according to Harry N. Taylor, of Kansas City, president of the association, who preceded Mr. Callahan on the witness stand. The 600,000 miners employed throughout the nation are about to formulate demands for higher wages, Mr. Taylor declared. The more radical among the number, he said, were endeavoring to apply the methods of the Soviet government of Russia to the bituminous industry. If their counsel should sway the more conservative of their numbers and extremely radical demands should be made, which could not be heeded to, Mr. Taylor said he doubted if the operators "could mine a pound of coal."

"To save the public from calamity," Mr. Taylor said, "it will be necessary to overcome three things—first, that we do not have an extraordinarily severe winter; second, that the railroad administration moves the coal in a regular manner; and third, that by effort of the miners we produce at least 11,000,000 tons of bituminous coal weekly for the remaining nineteen weeks of the year." This is more than has been produced in any one week during the year thus far.

All wage agreements between miners and operators, Mr. Taylor said, would expire with the proclamation of peace by the President. The miners had already decided, Mr. Taylor said he was informed, in one section to try to obtain a six hour working day, as against eight hours now, a five day week and an increase in pay. They will meet in Cleveland, O., September 2, he said, to decide on what demands to make of the operators, and there will be a joint conference between operators and miners at Buffalo, September 25.

"If this convention of September 25 fails to agree," Mr. Taylor said, "I do not know whether we are going to be able to mine any coal or not. I very seriously doubt whether we will."

"With that condition confronting us in the mining world, the situation is very serious. If that goes into effect there is little or no hope of overcoming a very serious shortage of coal this winter and great suffering in the country."

Miners were given a substantial increase in wages by the President during the days of the fuel administration, Mr. Taylor said, and it was not uncommon in many fields for the industrious men in times of full time operation to earn $15 a day or more. But they are getting restless, he said.

"Already the more radical element is determined to put into effect the Soviet government of mines," he declared.

Where has he gone, that fat, wheezy, curly-tailed, homely friend of our childhood days? He seems to have become almost as rare as the guided parlor ornament, the "spool" furniture and the whatnot so common in times past.

No longer do we see him puffing along behind the fat urchin and his nurse in the public garden. The corner that he once occupied by the fireside is now filled by canines of smarter appearance.

The pug was never a "utilitarian dog," and as his one-time claim to popularity could not have been based on looks it is hard to tell what made him popular in his day. He had a friendly disposition and he was good with children. That was all that could be said for him.

Handsome dogs and more useful dogs crowded the once common pug into the discard and that unlucky but companionable beast is now a rarity. It is probable that most young people of today will never meet one in the flesh, but will have to depend on the home-taken photograph of "Pugs" to know how one appeared.

New Warships Are Powerful.

Our latest dreadnaughts—Iowa and Massachusetts—mark a great advance in size and power over any previous warships. Their length will be 624 feet, their breadth 106 feet, and their mean draft will be 33 feet. The motive power will be similar to that of the Mexico, that is to say they will have the electric drive. The maximum speed will be 23 knots and they will have a cruising radius of 8,000 miles. Their displacement will reach the unprecedented figure of 43,200 tons. The armament will consist of 12 16-inch guns and 16 six-inch guns.

America's Store of Radium.

The total production of radium element in the United States up to this year is estimated at 55 grams. It was first produced in 1912, in which year 2.1 grams resulted; in 1918 the product was 13.6 grams. Charles H. Villard, writing in Science, estimates that the carnallite holdings of the Standard Chemical Company should produce at least 500 grams radium.

The brown thrush is declared to be the most talented and brilliant singer in the world, not even excepting the nightingale, says the American Forestry association. The tail of this little bird is of a reddish brown, much brighter than the back and head, while the breast is quite heavily spotted with black. It winters in the Gulf states.

Saved in Nick of Time.

Many wonderful bargains are recorded in connection with old books. The priceless Connecticut Bible in the British Museum Library, for instance, was bought by an amateur book collector from a broker who was delighted and astonished on being offered ten shillings for it. He was about to use his valuable leaves to wrap up his coat.

Opposed Brothers' Church.

There were three of the Westons, although only two of them had anything to do with founding the Methodist church. Some of the French clergymen, and even educated, they were all pious men, but the other brother, Samuel, took no stock in "Methodism." In fact, he considered it, and wrote of it upon one occasion as "a spreading delusion."

WORLD TOO MUCH WITH US

Writer Questions Whether Mankind as a Whole Does Not Neglect the Best Investments.

A thoughtful American who lost his life when the Lusitania was sunk remarked as he awaited his fate with calmness that "Death is the most beautiful adventure in life." It was a singularly impressive utterance which was wired around the world, and it is still remembered and treasured in hosts of hearts.

A tombstone in Flanders bears the words of another reflective American. Dismore Ely, a soldier from Chicago. With what seemed a premonition that the supreme sacrifice was at hand, he gave the world a thought comparable in interest and significance with that of Charles Frohman, when he wrote in his last letter to his mother that "It is an investment, not a loss, when a man dies for his country."

Both of these notable utterances sound a high note too rarely heard in our hurrying world of today. But if life is the greatest individual asset of any one of us, surely its wise investment should be our matter of greatest concern. What sort of an investment of life do we make in living selfishly for self? Can it yield an adequate return? Does the best that it has to offer—wealth, position, power—make it worth while? Nothing is more certainly established than that these invariably disappoint the hearts set on them; and altogether impermanent is such satisfaction as they do confer. As a matter of theory we admit, of course, that with Cicero, that Nature has lent us life at interest; and, with Seneca, that the body is not a home but an inn. We also give nominal assent to the teaching of the faith into which we were born that life intrusts us with talents—one or more—of which we must make wise investment. We are left in no doubt as to what that investment is, yet how few of us make it, and how little thought the world as a whole gives to investments of the higher kind?

Is it not that the world is too much with us, that its investments are too alluring? Yet the soul which denies love asked of it, withholds kindness expected from it, or refuses the opportunity for sacrifice offered to it, may have world banks filled and yet be bankrupt any moment. For the only investments that cannot fail are those of sacrifice and duty done and love.—Rochester Post-Express.

Little Helen's Idea.
Helen had a good imagination. One day, when playing blind man's buff, she was seen crawling on all fours. The "blind man" stumbled over her and when she uncovered her eyes and asked why Helen was down on her knees, Helen replied: "I thought you would think it was a dog."

Punishment.

The whole of life and experience goes to show, that right or wrong doing, whether as to the physical or the spiritual nature, is sure in the end to meet its appropriate reward of punishment. Penalties may be delayed, but they are sure to come.

ALUMNI MEMORIAL
TABLET HERE

The members of Kingston High School Alumni wish to announce that the beautiful bronze tablet in memory of those men of their number who made the supreme sacrifice during the world war, has arrived and will be placed and unveiled as soon as a speaker suitable to such an event can be secured. Six young men of Kingston Academy and graduates of that institution of learning have given their lives for those of us who are left to take up their work, and as best we may, carry it forward for them. Their associates feel that only a man who has been through somewhat of the ordeal that they endured and who has come out "big" in the best sense of that word can be acceptable to the occasion of the unveiling of the tablet.

The tablet of handsome bronze was made by the Gorham Silver Company. It has a border in relief, known as the "reed and strap" design, with a star at each corner. The first inscription on the tablet reads as follows:

"They Gave Their Today For Your Tomorrow."

Under this appears two laurel branches, met in the center with a conventionalized laurel blossom on which stands out beautifully one solid star.

Then follows the names of the heroes and a final inscription as follows:

Leonard C. Woodrow
John A. Joyce
Hylbert G. French
Aubrey C. Arns
J. Geoffrey Strangnell
Perry T. Keaster Erected By

And Justice Better Than

The Alumni Association, will, as soon as possible, announce the date on which the tablet will be unveiled, together with the speaker for the occasion.

HURLEY.

Hurley, Sept. 8.—Wednesday evening had been secured for the Republican town caucus. During the day, it seemed as if the weather clerk wished to have a hand in the affair, for he poured forth such a volume of wetness that was more than sufficient to dampen the enthusiasm. However, there was enough clear weather at night to restore the matter to an equilibrium. The contest for road commissioner had been a keen one and the candidate from this end of the town was most active in securing a large delegation, strong enough to secure the nomination. Automobiles dashing up and down the street, picking up their loads of passengers and then hurrying off for the seat of operations reminded one of New York; the village candidate hurrying around to secure accommodations for his followers, all reminded the village folk that there was "something doing." Many women were also gathered in, thus permitting us to realize that they must be reckoned with; and yet there was not accommodations for all that were expected to be at the caucus for several were left behind to ponder upon the mutability of earthly matters. After all the great preparations were not necessary for the village candidate met with little opposition and was easily the nominee. As this was the very first opportunity that the women had secured to be present at a political caucus, the ones in charge saw to it that they were finely entertained with the good things that West Hurley has so nicely stored up and all came back with praise for the reception met with. There was a plenty of smokes, of course, for the men. The Democratic caucus took place the following evening. Instead of considerable excitement and considerable crowd, there was simply modest enthusiasm and a modest crowd present. Instead of nine capacious automobiles to carry up the numerous voters, there was a modest "fiver" to transport the four stalwart Democrats, who had elected to play the game at West Hurley. With candidate timber as scarce almost as the proverbial hen's teeth in comparison to the wealth of timber in the Republican yard, still a brave effort was made. Although no women were present at this caucus, still the woman element in politics was duly appreciated and two women were put on the ticket, thus going the Republican caucus one better. Cigars and refreshments from Republican as well as Democratic sources were handed out most courteously and boundedly and the evening was over.

Twenty-two voters, 1 Prohibitionist, 9 Democrats and 12 Republicans, thought enough of the primary election to vote, or was it that, it being a stormy day, they had nothing else to do. Primary election in this district is a fizzle, as well as an unnecessary expense.

REV. ALPEROWITZ
WILL OFFICIATE

At Jewish Holiday Services at Congregation Agudas Achim—Will Receive $400 and Expenses For Three Services.

At a meeting at the Congregation Agudas Achim held Sunday evening it was decided to engage the services of Rabbi J. Alperowitz of New York city to officiate at the Jewish holidays of New Year's and the Day of Atonement. For the three services Rabbi Alperowitz will be paid $400 and his expenses.
The Jewish New Year will be observed on Thursday and Friday, September 25 and 26, while the Day of Atonement is October 4.
Rabbi Alperowitz is expected to arrive in Kingston on Sunday, September 21, and will remain until October 5. The Congregation Agudas Achim has been without the services of a rabbi all summer, as there were none available.
One of the prominent members of that church stated that the majority of the rabbis come from Russia, and since the world war began the demand has far exceeded the supply.

TO MASTER

Even the Regular College Education Would Not Seem to Make One Absolutely Proficient.

It is not always possible for a college to teach a student how to spell, particularly in those days of co-education. An otherwise bright girl graduate of a famous educational institution got a position recently on the staff of a carefully edited newspaper in New York. Her struggle with the English language began immediately and language was treated in the after, as the following gentleman picked at random from her "copy" sheet:

"The sandwiches were prepared early, by the housewife."

"The seal of his shoe came off."

"He was an athlete with strong muscles."

The "Times" type-printing machine, which carry messages from some associations to newspapers also make amazing mistakes, but this is due to the intense pervasiveness of ignorance, things—not to ignorance. For instance, during the war, a report came that a newspaper office which began "Robert O. Hoover, the United States' first administrator."

VERSAILLES UP TO DATE

Typewriters and Telephones Installed in Historic Palace of the Monarchs of France.

The room at Versailles where the peace treaty was negotiated is the famous Salon of Mirrors. For the first time in history this salon is invaded by the modern telephone and bears the click of the typewriter. The superb room in which Louis XIV—the Sun King—died also bears the ring of the telephone bell, as telephones have been installed there. In this same room on the 4th of October, in 1789 Marie Antoinette heard the populace of Paris in the courtyard below her balcony cry for her blood.

The antique bedroom of Madame de Maintenon, accustomed to the coiffures and the whisperings of the intrigues, now bears the more frank tap of the modern typewriter, and instead of the scandals of the gossiping old French aristocracy, a modern electric fan, courtously placed there for the attention of the English representatives at the peace conference peacefully hums.

WELL IN THE VAN.

The majesty of the Emperor is ...confirmed that his country, long known as "the model state of Kathiawar," shall maintain itself well in the van of progress. He is taking measures to the total abolition of the liquor traffic within his borders. A few weeks ago, it appears, he ordered the preparation of a scheme, to take effect immediately, providing for the state to become wholly dry within a given period. The majesty, moreover, has gone further still. He has approached the other states of Kathiawar with a view to obtaining their co-operation, "since their close proximity constitutes a serious though not insuperable obstacle to effective administrative action." Bhavnagar is sure enough of the place—Christian Science Monitor.

OFFICIAL INFORMATION.

Helena excels in boys' games and will have nothing to do with the other girls. Her mother dreams her as boyishly as the boys with whom she plays. My five-year-old niece asked me recently whether Helena was a boy or a girl. I told her that she was a girl. The next day she came to me in such excitement and said: "You were right, auntie; I said she was a boy and she was a girl."—Queen Victoria.

To Help Roumanian Children.
Queen Marie of Roumania has drafted every housewife, owner of a moving picture theater, store-keeper, hotel owner and landlady in her Kingdom into a national army to contribute to the support of the Roumanian Children's Relief association, which has been organized to continue permanently the work of child feeding begun by the American relief administration. In an appeal just issued to her people, described in a cable received from Sir Roger in Paris at the offices of the administration, 42 Broadway, Queen Marie has requested that all Roumanian families refrain from eating "dinner" one day each month and contribute the amount thus saved to the funds of child relief.

The Queen has requested the various churches having her subjects to contribute to the child welfare in the following manner: All stores and hotels, one-fourth of their net proceeds one day each month; all landlords opening bath-room buildings, one-fourth of their net proceeds one day each month; all banks on an equivalent basis and churches of all denominations a share of their collections one Sunday each month.

Treasure in the Future.

The present is always cluttered with new varieties of treasure. One can temporarily clutter one's eye forward to the day when wireless telephony will be so perfect that a man will have a receiver in his hat and be measured by his wife all the time.

CHURCH IN DAYLIGHT SAVING.

After going along for more than 100 years with its main service always taking place at eleven o'clock every Sunday morning, St. George's Episcopal church, in Stuyvesant square, New York city, has set a church fashion. The congregation now assembles at ten o'clock on Sunday morning.

St. George's, the oldest child of Trinity parish, is the first of the Episcopal denomination to apply the principle of daylight saving to divine worship.

In 1911 St. George's observed the passing of 100 years since its first services were conducted in a building in Beekman street, near the East river. In its life the church has been twice burned out and once nearly lapsed into oblivion, but was rescued when the late J. Pierpont Morgan, for 40 years a member of the vestry, brought Dr. William L. Rainford from Toronto to the rectorship. It now has the largest membership of any single Protestant parish in the world.

§ 18. Section four hundred and fourteen of such chapter, as last amended by chapter five hundred and thirty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and sixteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 414. Disposition of irregular ballots; and preservation of the record of the machine. The inspectors of election shall, as soon as the count is complete and fully ascertained, as in this chapter required, lock the machine against voting, and it shall remain so for the period of thirty days and as much longer as may be required for advisable because of any existing or threatened contest over the result of such election, except as provided by section four hundred and sixteen of this chapter and except that it may be opened and all the data and figures therein examined upon the order of any court of competent jurisdiction or may be opened by direction of a committee of the senate or assembly to investigate and report upon contested elections of members of the legislature voted for by the use of such machine and such data and such figures examined by such committee in the presence of the officer having the custody of such machine. Any candidate shall be entitled on application to the supreme court and on reasonable grounds shown to have any machine in or upon which he has been named as a candidate opened and all the data and figures therein examined by him or his authorized agents, but the court shall prescribe such conditions as of notice to other candidates or otherwise as it shall deem necessary and proper. Historic Strasbourg.

In establishing the administration of the restored provinces of Alsace Lorraine in the city of Strasbourg, the people of France have regained a richly historic ground, says the Boston Transcript. Its cathedral, whose building engaged the services of famous architects and decorators for the period of four centuries before reaching the completion in which it stands today, is one of the marvels of the world. Its great university has a library of a million volumes and before the war its students numbered more than 2,000.

These are the local glories, but a universal fame has been gained by the products of its more intimate talent. Thus, Alsatian wine has had world-wide recognition since the middle ages; Strasbourg beer was known before America was discovered, and as for that delicacy so prized by the fastidious taste of gourmets, the pate de foie gras, the name of Strasbourg is the certificate of extreme excellence.

Improved Oil-Burner.

A new oil-burner for the kitchen stove, announced from Cairo, Egypt, is attachable by a special flange to the grate door, and it neither requires alteration of the solid fuel stove nor prevents the use of solid fuel. The nozzle projects about an inch into the grate, the oil tank being mounted on a suitable rack outside the stove. A small fire heats the fuel, oil to about 350 degrees Fahrenheit, and as the oil passes from the nozzle, a jet of compressed air or steam converts it into a spray that burns with a continuous smokeless and odorless flame. In Cairo, it is noted, compressed air is supplied in pipes to houses.

They Wouldn't Suit Her.

Mary Pickford was talking about the new French fashions.

"The French," she said, "are trying to bring the long skirt back again."

She frowned slightly. Then, as she glanced down at her little shoe, her brow cleared.

"There's no doubt," she said, "that donkey skirts would suit some girls down to the ground."

"Key Money."

In many districts of England, and particularly in Yorkshire, where the dearth of houses is acute, the practice of paying "key money" is growing. So keen are prospective tenants to get into a house directly it is vacant that as much as $50 to $100 is offered to the occupier for the key, this transaction generally carrying with it the understanding that the landlord will accept the succeeding tenant.

Paper Clothing.

Underlying made of finely creased or strained paper is now being manufactured in Japan. After the paper has been cut to pattern, the different parts are sewed together and hemmed, and the places where buttonholes are to be formed are strengthened with cotton or linen.

The paper is very strong and at the same time very flexible. After a garment has been worn a few hours it will interfere with the perspiration of the body no more than do garments made of certain fabric. The paper is not soiled, nor is it impermeable. After becoming wet the paper is difficult to tear.

Livingstone Memorial.

One of the most curious memorials of Livingstone is the "Name Tree" near Victoria falls, on the Zambezi. On the trunk Livingstone cut his initials and the date 1855 on the day of his first visit to the falls. In his book, giving an account of this, Livingstone says: "This was the only instance in which I indulged in this piece of vanity."

Keeping Even Temper.

Weakness, tired nerves, poor digestion, sudden demands, an overdose of perspiration and a dozen other things will unbalance the temper. You can't always regulate yourself, but you can do a great deal toward keeping the body in trim. You can see to it that the poor old back does not get a load too heavy to be borne. You can also try to guard against surprises that unbalance the mental mechanism and send the mercury skipping skyward. It's the best way to keep an even temper.

FOOTBALL OPENS SEASON LATER

With the opening of the fall season of the public schools interest in football is being revived, and the Kingston High School schedule for the season is about completed. The season will likely open here on Saturday, September 27. A call for candidates for the team will be issued the latter part of the week. The schedule when completed calls for games with Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Middletown, Albany and Port Jervis.

JOHN ST. BLOCKED.

Work on Two Buildings Causes Much Annoyance.

Again this morning, the block on John street between Fair and Wall streets, was blocked, or nearly so, to pedestrians, unless they were willing to take their chances of having their eyes filled with lime dust.

The sidewalk was closed to traffic where work was being done on the Vester County National Bank building. On the opposite side where men were working on what is known as the Dinnick property, at the corner of the building near the Fair street, a scaffolding just on line with a man's eyes had been built, the boards extending out over the sidewalk so far that one had to dodge cleverly in order to get through without going out onto the roadway, and even then one stood a good chance of getting lime and brick dust in one's eyes as a workman was opening up the wall of the building for some purpose.

As The Freeman had stated before, anything that makes for the progress of Kingston is to be welcomed and encouraged, but it is certain that improvements can be made without closing important streets to traffic or without having them in such a state that for the safety and comfort of the public they might better be closed.

BENT MUD GUARDS

Result in Colling In Of Automobiles In Auto Collision.

A Ford car driven by Joseph Weiss of Fleischmanns and a Chevrolet car driven by Louis Basch of this city came together at the corner of Wall and John streets Saturday afternoon, resulting in a bent mud guard on each car. There was considerable excitement and a crowd quickly gathered. Mr. Basch claiming that the driver of the Ford was at fault, demanded $20 to pay for damage done. The driver of the Ford maintained that he was not at fault. In the excitement that followed Mr. Basch secured William D. Brinrier as his attorney and Mr. Weiss called upon Judge Joseph Fowler to defend his interests. No settlement was made at the time by either party and both cars proceeded on their trip.

The fast Maroon base ball team of this city found it a simple thing to hand the East Kingston team a severe wallop at that place Sunday before a large crowd of base ball fans. The score being 19 to 1. Their lone run came in the last inning when Miles loosened up and allowed a hit, the lucky man being Bush, who stole second and then went to third on a wild throw. He was sacrificed home by Eckert. The feature of the Maroon's game was the tight playing and good batting of the entire team, also a home run by McNellis. Miles pitched for the Maroons and only at one time was he forced to extend himself, in the fifth inning with the bases filled and one out. He fished and struck out the next two men. Bolshewitz held him to perfection. The battery for East Kingston was Charles Tierney and Acker.

An athletic meet for men who were in the service of the United States during the great war is one of the attractions planned for Welcome Home Day on October 1, at Forsyth Park. The meet will open about 2 o'clock that afternoon, and worthwhile prizes will be awarded the winners of the various events.

The events will consist of a sack race, crab race, wheelbarrow race, tug of war with teams of ten men each, 75 yard dash, standing broad jump, running broad jump, standing high jump, running high jump and the 12 pound shot put.

Captain Everett Fowler has received two first prizes of $50 each which have been donated, and which will be presented to the two first place winners in two of the events on the card. Merchants and citizens are asked to get in touch with Captain Fowler about donating prizes for the various events.

Only men formerly in the service will be allowed to contest, and they must take part in their uniforms. About fifty-five prizes are needed. Money, merchandise or orders on stores will prove acceptable as prizes.

Entries will be received at places to be designated within the next few days. Every boy who saw service is invited to take part, and prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place winners.

COMBAT WITH THEIR HEADS

Giraffes Have Distinctly Peculiar Method of Settling Differences That Arise Among Themselves.

While the giraffe can hardly be classed among the fierce duellists of the animal world, yet animals of this species are known to have their combats like their more ferocious fellows. The long-necked beast has an original and curious method of fighting. It has neither claws nor teeth nor sharp teeth with which to defend or attack, so when it is out of temper with one of its kind it does not fly in the face of Providence by trying to disembowel its adversary, as a rhinoceros might, or bear it, as a tiger would. On the contrary, the giraffe, knowing that it has been provided by nature with a long and pliable neck, terminating in a very solid head, uses the upper part of itself like a flail, and swinging its neck around and around in a way that does immense credit to its organization, brings its head down at each swing with a thump on its antagonist.

The other combatant uses precisely the same tactics, and the two animals, planting themselves as firmly as possible by stretching out on all four legs to the utmost, stand opposite to each other hammering away with their heads until one or the other has had enough.

The head of the giraffe is furnished with two stumpy, hornlike processes, so that the animals when at this hammer-and-tongs mode of warfare, remind the spectator somewhat of two ancient warriors thumping each other with the spiked balls they used to carry for that purpose at the end of a chain.—New York Herald.

WROTE OF LIFE AT HARVARD

Author Now Forgotten Conceded to Have Seen the First to Depict Undergraduate Days.

Harvard graduates, the world-over have long believed that the earliest pictorial record of undergraduate life at the oldest college in the United States was made when F. G. Attwood drew his picture of college life for the first volume of the Harvard Lampoon. The Lampoon was the forerunner of humorous journalism in America; Attwood became a famous humorist; and his "Manners & Customs of an Harvard Student" was established as a classic. The discovery of a time-dated book in a New England farmhouse reveals an earlier student, whose "College Scenes" anticipate "The Harvard Student" by about a quarter of a century, but were almost generally forgotten. Of N. Hayward, the artist, no record remains in the time that he was then in college. The discovery, however, had a rare afternoon when he found the volume in a dusty chest, where it had been tucked away with a lot of contemporary "ethnographs" and an old Harvard diploma.—Christian Science Monitor.
